Comprehensive Learfield Campus+ Partnership Allows for Unprecedented Engagement Across Campus, Athletics

NORTHRIDGE, Calif. (Oct. 2, 2017) – California State University, Northridge (CSUN) and Dignity Health - Northridge Hospital Medical Center (NHMC) enter the 2017-18 collegiate academic year introducing a first-of-its-kind healthcare partnership across CSUN’s campus and athletics programs.

Announced today by CSUN Director of Athletics Dr. Brandon Martin and Dignity Health – Northridge Hospital CEO Saliba H. Salo, the relationship will allow for unprecedented synergies between the two parties, particularly in the areas of health, education, research and athletics. Effective immediately, Dignity Health will assume the university’s first-ever designation as “Community Health Partner of the CSUN Matadors” and be notably visible across campus. Cultivated by Learfield’s Campus+ business, the comprehensive, multi-year partnership with NHMC was a natural extension of Learfield serving as the Matadors’ multimedia rightsholder, which continually seeks out innovative opportunities to align with local, regional and national companies.

Campuswide, NHMC and CSUN will increase collaboration as it relates to ongoing research and educational programming. NHMC also will be embedded in numerous outreach initiatives between the campus, athletics and the community to promote healthy and active lifestyles. Additionally, NHMC will have on-campus connection opportunities with the Younes and Soraya Nazarian Center for the Performing Arts (formerly the Valley Performing Arts Center), Student Recreation Center, the New 88.5 FM (KCSN), University Student Union and the CSUN Alumni Association.

“Dignity Health’s founding mission includes our commitment to partner with others in the community to improve the quality of life, and we believe this aligns with that goal. Our award-winning hospital, physicians and clinical staff strive to ensure our surrounding communities have the education and resources they need to prevent illness and disease, and to receive the best possible medical care when necessary. We are excited to partner with CSUN to improve the health of all communities served,” said Salo.

NHMC will be highly engaged with CSUN Athletics. In addition to receiving numerous assets, including rights to use CSUN marks and logos, NHMC will receive signage at the following athletics venues: The Matadome, Matador Soccer Field, Matador Diamond, Matador Field and the Matador Beach Volleyball Facility. Dignity Health also will serve as presenting sponsor of both the official athletics website, GoMatadors.com, and the CSUN Sports Network, which encompasses live game broadcasts and feature video productions.

“CSUN Athletics has grown immensely over the past several years – in competition, in the classroom and in our business relationships – and this new partnership with Dignity Health is another giant step forward for the Matadors,” said Martin. “We’re proud to work with our campus partners and friends at Dignity to create a meaningful brand partnership that will benefit us all and set the bar for similar partnerships across college athletics.”

According to Solly Fulp, executive vice president for Learfield’s Campus+, “Without question, this hallmark partnership between two of the largest organizations in the San Fernando Valley will be incredibly impactful, and we’re pleased at the unprecedented opportunities that exist.
